LETTER FROM JESSE BRUCE

Predicts Wilson Will Carry The Republican State of Oregon November 7th.

Enterprise, Ore., Oct. 16, 1916.
Crittenden Record-Press, Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:—

I enclose $1.00 to pay for another year's subscription to the Record-Press, for of course I would not be without it. You will see by my letter head that I am still in the harness and saddlery business in Enterprise. During the last six months business has been the best since I located here. The country is prosperous and developing steadily. New settlers are coming in and more sod is broken each year, and splendid crops of grain and hay are raised, and trainloads of cattle, hogs, sheep, and horses are shipped.

Prices are very good under the Democratic administration. I would not be surprised to see this county and State go for Wilson next month, although both are strongly Republican in registration. I know many Republicans who will vote for him. It would help if we could have Ollie James here to tell some of the wavering republicans what the administration has done for the country and show them that Wilson is the man to keep in the White House.

All well and doing well. Best love to all old Kentucky friends.
Yours very truly,
J. F. BRUCE.

A Story of Red-Heads.

The Glasgow (Ky.) Times tells this unique story of "Red-heads." "The two Claude boys were twins and red-headed at that, and they left Rowan county several years ago and went to Morgan county, where they prospered and married red-headed twin sisters, the Misses Walls. They were married the same day. And to their happy union were born to each three red-headed children. They are now living in Shelby county on a $50,000 farm, and raising red Shorthorn cattle."

RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE
Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—An interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.
The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not get up and I gave up in despair.
At last, my husband got me Cardui, the woman's tonic. I commenced taking it. From that time, I could tell it was doing me good. I can now walk two miles a day, and am doing better than I have been for years. If you are all run down, don't give up. Cardui, the woman's tonic, is more than a million years of wonderful help. I surely help you, too, sold Cardui for years. It will do. Ask him. I'll send it. Begin taking it."

Laurel, Mo.—The school gave an entertainment and box supper Friday evening. A good sum was made for the school library, and a lot of crystal Lake, Ill., Oct. for all that attended.

Mrs. J. A. Farris returned home Friday, having attended the Eastern Star meeting at Dawson.

Mrs. Susan LaRue, of Sheboygan, Wis., is visiting her son and daughter here this week.

Little Miss Elizabeth, as she is called, is a manly little fellow, and as she is recovering from an attack of la grippe, she is a little better.

Mr. Daily and family only one that he loves is taking Paducah Friday and from him, that he or she is shopping.

Mrs. P. F. Blakeley, of Paducah, is visiting her son and daughter here this week.

A good rain would be appreciated in this section. I was 33 years of age, then a lot of people are hauling married to a young girl and Mrs. Ponisca Williams, with her seven years, and day she left and I have not seen or heard anything from her.

I remain as ever yours truly, A Friend.

Those who pay up all arrears for subscription and renew in 1916 for the Crittenden Record-Press, will get it as long as paid for at $1.00 per year.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE
by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CROSS GEESSE.

"Mrs. Goose," said Daddy, "was sitting on some Eggs. She was waiting for the little Geese to break through and come peeping out into the Barnyard."

"I would like to get a cool Drink of Water from the Stream," said Mrs. Goose. "Whatever shall I do? I can't leave these Eggs! And somehow, I am very hot and my Throat is very dry."

"Go along and get your Drink from the Stream," said her husband, Mr. Gander, for he was very devoted to Mrs. Goose.

"Will you look after these fine Eggs then?" said Mrs. Goose.

"Indeed I will," said Mr. Gander proudly.

"Now Mrs. Goose and Mr. Gander were very fond of each other but they did not have any Friends in the Barnyard. They were cross to all the other Animals and no matter if they were treated just as kindly as could be, they were extremely disagreeable."

"Mrs. Goose had waddled along on her flat, queer Feet to the Stream. She was having a fine time—but Mr. Gander, back in the Barnyard was as angry as could be!"

"Mr. Gander was a very fine-looking Goose. He was white but his wings were brown. Mrs. Goose was entirely white."

"Good afternoon, Mr. Gander," said Mr. Peacock, as he walked through the Barnyard. "Are you keeping House? Where is your Wife?"

"It's not your affair whether I am keeping House or not, and I won't tell you where my Wife is. You're an inquisitive old Bird—that's what you are."

"And Mr. Gander beat poor Mr. Peacock with his wings, and gave him a horrid twig with his sharp beak."

"There!" he said, "I hope that will teach you a lesson not to come meddling in other Folks' business."

"It will teach me," wailed Mr. Peacock, "never to speak to you again. I didn't believe you could be as cross as the other Animals said you were. I just thought I'd be friendly, and come and call—and invite you to call on us some day."

"All you wanted," said Mr. Gander, "was to steal the Eggs!"

"You old silly Gander," said Mr. Peacock. "As if I wanted a lot of little Geese coming out of their shells! But if you think that way, I'll leave you. And this I will say: That now I see why you all belong to the Goose family—for not only are you very cross but you're very, very silly! Good afternoon," and Mr. Peacock, feeling very hurt from the shaking Mr. Gander had given him, strutted off.

"Pretty soon Mrs. Goose came back from the Stream. 'Well, my dear,' she said, 'the little Geese are coming out of their shells!'

"It is therefore ordered, and the Clerk of this Court is hereby directed to have printed upon the ballots of this County for its next November election, 1916, and duly submitted to the voters of this County the question, 'Are you in favor of making it unlawful for cattle, hogs, sheep, horses, goats, and all species of live stock to run at large on the public highways and uninclosed lands of Crittenden County,' and to post and make such notice as may be by law required."

And the Sheriff of this County is hereby directed to hold such election at the time aforesaid and to give notice of same in the manner prescribed by law for taking a vote on such issues.

Worn Out?

No doubt you are, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments to which all women are subject. Headache, backache, dizziness, nervousness, weak, tired feeling, are some of the symptoms, and you must rid yourself of them in order to feel well. Thousands of women, who have been helped by this remedy, urge you to

TAKE Cardui

The Women's Tonic

Mrs. Sylvia Woods, of Clifton, N. J., says: "Before taking Cardui, I was, at times, so weak I could hardly walk, and the pain in my back and head nearly killed me. After taking three boxes of Cardui, the pains disappeared. Now I feel as well as ever did. Every suffering woman should try Cardui." Gettable today.

Left Cleveland at 9 p. m., on the steamer "City of Buffalo," of the Cleveland & Buffalo Steamship Line, arriving in Buffalo at 8:30 a. m., Aug. 21st, left there immediately on a trolley car of the International Railway Co., arriving at Niagara Falls 9:30 a. m., spent the balance of this day at the Falls, and on Tuesday, August 22nd, took a trolley car on the Great George Route, down the American side of the Niagara river to Lewiston, N. Y., which is seven miles below Niagara Falls. Here we took the steamer "Cayuga," went down Niagara river to Lake Ontario thence across the lake to Toronto, Ca. While in Toronto we visited the Parliament buildings, City Hall and other points of interest including a large department store, where we bought and mailed some post cards to friends and relatives. This big store had running ice water throughout the building as well as hot water. The name of this store was "R. T. Simpson & Co."

We left Toronto at 2:45 on our return trip to Niagara Falls on the steamer "Chippewa," arriving at the Falls at 7:45 p. m. We spent Wednesday, Aug. 23rd, seeing the many interesting sights of Niagara Falls, and left there at 5 p. m., for St. Louis, returning by the same route we took going except the steamer from Buffalo to Cleveland was

EMERGENCY REMEDIES

Bathing behind the ears with right foot water often relieves a headache. When a cut will not stop bleeding apply ground rice or flour. Either one is efficacious.

A good long stretch immediately upon waking in the morning is excellent exercise with which to begin the day.

At the first intimation of a sore throat try a gargle of one teaspoonful of salt and one of carbonate of soda to half a glass of water.

Hold the hammered finger in water as hot as can be borne for a few minutes. This treatment will draw out the inflammation almost at once.

A small onion eaten before retiring will often induce sleep. The taste may be removed after eating by chewing a bit of parsley or a few drops of eau de cologne on a lump of sugar.

Silence Cloths.

Far better than either the felt or quilted silence cloth is the one of asbestos. This cloth protects the table top, not only from the spots made by hot dishes, but also from stains and damage done by hot liquids being spilled. The cloth is waterproof as well as heat proof. It is, of course, lintless and is finished with a neat binding. It is made in halves, each consisting of three strongly bound and hinged sections. It does not warp, and may be folded and put in the side board drawer when not in use.

Fullness Without Flare.

According to the gowns shown at a fall display seen in New York recently skirts are to be just as full as formerly, but entirely lacking in flare. Quantities of flexible or very thin material will be used and this weighted by a broad belt at the bottom.

the "City Of Erie," which belonged to the same company as the "City Of Buffalo."

On arriving in Cleveland at 7:30 a. m., Aug. 24th, we took an automobile sightseeing trip through the city seeing many places of interest; among them the old home of John D. Rockefeller and some of the principal parts, the famous Lake Shore Drive and St. Clair Ave., which is inhabited almost exclusively by foreigners.

We left Cleveland at 11 a. m., arriving in Toledo at 4 p. m. We left Toledo at 6:45 p. m., arriving in St. Louis at 9:30 a. m., Aug. 25th.—Mrs. W. R. GIBBS.

TOWN HAS TWO SENATORS

One From One State And One From Another One.

Texarkana, Ark., Oct. 21.—After December first, Texarkana, situated on the state line of Texas and Arkansas, will have the distinction of the residence of two United States Senators, each one being from different state. The persons making this unusual condition are Morris Shepard, junior senator from Texas; who has lived in Texarkana all his life, and the newly appointed Senator Kirby, who was named by Governor Hays to succeed the late Senator James P. Clark, of Arkansas.

Three other cities—New York, Concord, N. H., and Denver, Colo.—have the distinction of being residences of the two senators from their respective states, but Texarkana is the only city where United States senator from two states live.

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

IN BED MOST OF TIME

Her Health Resored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"My health was so poor that my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 100 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 130 pounds. I do all the work and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy."—Mrs. Wm. Green, 332 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

There is hardly a neighborhood in this country, wherein some woman has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy.

If there is anything about which you would like special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Gentlemen:-

I beg leave to submit the enclosed blue print giving the results of an economy test, made on a 1917 Stock Maxwell Touring Car, furnished by your Boston representatives.

The curve is self explanatory and needs no discussion other than the statement that the carburetor, which was stock, was adjusted to give the best combination of power, flexibility, speed, and economy, for such conditions of touring as would ordinarily be encountered.

In tabular form the results (taken from the curve sheet) are as follows:

SPEED (Miles per hour)	ECONOMY (Miles per gallon)
10	33.7
15	32.7
20	31.2
25	29.9
30	26.1
35	23.0

Respectfully submitted,

DLG/K

D. L. Gallup

NOTE that no unusual means were employed to get these results.
The car used was taken from stock; the test was made with a full load and with top and windshield up; the regular Maxwell carburetor was used.

Any Maxwell car is capable of giving this same economy in gasoline consumption.

Maxwell operating economy matches its economy in first cost, making it The World's Greatest Motor Car Value.

Came to Rescue.

Caton, Ky.—An interesting story from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not get up in the morning.

At last, my husband got me Cardui, the woman's tonic which he had bought for me. From the first dose, I could tell it was doing me good. I was now able to walk and am doing better.

If you are all run down with troubles, don't give up. Get Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is except the Susan A. Anthony amendment to the United States Constitution. In respect to every thing else he is vague and intangible.

When a candidate will not speak for himself he must be judged by the company he keeps and no other candidate for President ever trained with such a motley crew as that which follows Mr. Hughes. No Administration could survive that was forced to depend upon reconciling such unreconcilable element.

Yet the support of all of them, from Wall Street to the German-American Alliance, from Penrose to William Allen White, would be necessary to Mr. Hughes if he were chosen to conduct the affairs of the United States Government.

In ordinary times a nation may occasionally risk experiments and trust to fortune, but these are not ordinary times. If the American people have a right to know anything about their public affairs, they have a right to know precisely what a candidate for President represents, precisely what his policies are, precisely what his programme of government is, and precisely what he intends to do. They have no information whatever of this kind from Mr. Hughes, and they can obtain no information. All efforts have failed. Mr. Hughes is deaf and dumb to all appeals.

The peace of the country today rests wholly in the hands of the President of the United States.
A single mistake, a single blunder a single ill-advised action, and he can plunge 100,000,000 people in to the midst of the most devastating war that mankind has ever known. There are no ascribable limits to calamities in which a tactless, and obstinate or an ill-informed President can involve the Nation.

To elect Mr. Hughes is to elect an enigma, a conundrum, a puzzle, a conjecture. So far as knowledge of his policies and purposes are concerned, the voters might as well blindfold themselves and make a President out of the first man they happen to slap on the back in a street crowd. They would be taking essentially the same chances that they are taking with Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Hughes might make a good President after he had had two or three years experience in the office; but to train him now is like putting a green engineer in charge of the Twentieth Century Limited. The green engineer might wreck the train.

When they re-elect him, they are not gambling with destiny.
They know where he stands on every question of the campaign.

They know his record. They know that his Administration will move steadily ahead. They know that he represents American idealism in its truest form.

They know that he has kept the faith and that he is one of the greatest leaders that American democracy has raised up to the glory of the Republic.

Why Hughes? Nobody has answered that question and nobody can answer it except by appealing to passion, prejudice and partisanship.—New York World.

Has the Hughes campaign reached the beginning of the end? It would seem so.

Republican reports and Democratic reports agree that the winning is all toward President Wilson. The President grows stronger and stronger as public sentiment becomes more articulate. Mr. Hughes is weaker and weaker.

There is no mystery about the decline and prospective fall of the Hughes candidacy. It lacked the one element without which no candidacy has a right to succeed the one element of good faith. Mr. Hughes has not been sincere with the American people. He has not been honest with the American people. He has not been the Chas. E. Hughes whom they had idealized as a man, who met every political issue and every political situation squarely without fear or hesitation.

Mr. Hughes began his campaign with a carefully prepared program of dodging and evasion.
In the midst of the greatest crisis known to modern civilization he determined to have no policies of his own, but to seek to consolidate all the money opposition to the President.

Instead of consolidating all the antagonistic elements that were opposed to the President, Mr. Hughes has awakened their suspicions as to his own intentions. They have come to see that he cannot be playing fair with any of them.

Now that there has been an opportunity for the sober second thought, the American people are balancing the books. On the one side is the definite record of President Wilson and his Administration. On the other side is nothing except conjecture, speculation, fault-finding and desecration. Natural

The people who vigorously op-

that the ocean was our safety, had a rude awakening on Monday last when they learned that a German submarine, after calling at an American port, slipped out to sea and quickly sunk half a dozen steamers.

Instead of being a protecting barrier for us, the ocean has now become an enemy's greatest help to bring war directly to our shores without a moment's warn-of Bryan must now realize that a blind leader has been leading vast exports of manufactures of cotton and grain, which have been flooding the country with gold and bringing prosperity in its train, are all suddenly halted by a submarine, the presence of which was never even suspected until it arrived off Newport.

Suddenly a new phase of world conditions has arisen, and over-

WESTON

The Ohio river is very low at this writing—no boats running now.

Miss Ruby Sturgeon who has been very sick, is some better.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eskew, Mr. and Mrs. George Thorne and little daughter, Grace, spent a few days last week with relatives in Henderson.

Thos. Lewis, of Lamb, Ill., was in our little town Tuesday on business.

Aunt Liza Hughes is on the sick list at this writing.

Tom Williams was in Weston Wednesday trading.

We are glad to report Mrs. G. A. Travis is able to be out again.

Our school is progressing nicely. Thanks to our good teacher, Miss Juliet Pope.

Jessie Bennett, of DeKoven, has become a frequent visitor in our town. What's the attraction, Jessie?

G. P. Wilson has returned home after a few weeks' with his daughter, Mrs. Rose Frazier, of Cave-in-Rock, Ill.

Our merchant, C. W. Grady, has sold out his stock of goods to Capt. Dink Sturgeon, who is putting in a new stock. Come one, come all, and trade with him, he will treat you right.

Rev. T. G. Gebauer, of Henderson, was in our little town Thursday night and displayed a nice lot of bible pictures at the C. P. church for our Sunday School Rally. They were nice pictures and enjoyed by those who were present.

Miss Verna King spent Thursday night with her grandmother, Mrs. R. E. Lamb.

Miss Beulah Walker spent Wednesday night with Miss Ruby Sturgeon.

Miss Juliet Pope spent Saturday and Sunday the guest of Miss Frances Gahagen.—Little Pansy.

Ripley's Railroad.

E. P. Ripley, one of the bitterest leaders against the Brotherhood's fight for the eight-hour law, who announced that his railroad would not obey the law, is president of the Santa Fe railroad.

Despite the fact that $2,500,000 is charged to loss due to storms, fire and floods in its territory, the Santa Fe railroad, in its official statement of expense for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, announces that the earnings of the road show an increase of $8,457,348 over the preceeding year. Mr. Ripley signs the statement.

Enough said.—Henderson

Austrian Premier.

London, Oct. 24.—The Premier of Austria has been shot. Reuters Amsterdam correspondent says the Premier Count Kari Stuergh was shot today by the publisher of a Vienna newspaper named Abler, according to a telegram received at Amsterdam from Berlin.

Count Kari Stuergh is the Austrian Premier. His ministry was formed November 3, 1911, and was reorganized November 30, 1914.

EXPERIENCE OF KENTUCKY WOMAN.

Louisville, Ky.—"I have been much benefited by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When in a run-down, nervous condition I saw 'Favorite Prescription' advertised in the paper. The use of one bottle gave me very marked improvement and I am glad to endorse it. It is a good medicine and seems to be just as advertised."—Miss LILLIE ZWEYDORF, 2233 Bank St.

An affection confined to women must have its cause in the womanly nature. There is no doubt that a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs, is in general responsible for feminine nervousness and an undermined constitution. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them healthy. There are no more crying spells. "Favorite Prescription" is for inflammation and female weakness. It makes weak women strong.

Middle aged women about to experience that dreaded change of life, should profit by the experience of thousands of noble women who have gone through the same period with little or no pain, misery or discomfort.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is and has been for nearly 50 years just the medicine. It is not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper; it's a temperance medicine, a glyceric extract from roots.

Get the "Prescription" today—either in liquid or tablet form—if you want to better your physical condition speedily.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

You can have Dr. Pierce's Complete Medical Adviser of 1008 for 30 cents or three dimes. It is a book on Hygiene, Marriage, Anatomy, Physiology, etc.

School Fair at Piney Fork.

There was a large crowd present at the Division Fair held at Piney Fork last Saturday.

On account of cool weather and muddy roads some of the schools were not represented.

The exhibits were splendid. The work was good and well displayed. The first prize on general exhibit, was awarded to Midway and the second prize to Copperas Springs.

The schools represented and the number of ribbons won by each are as follows:

	First	Second
Midway	17	4
Odessa	7	5
Shady Grove	6	7
Copperas Springs	5	9
Lily Dale	5	7
Piney Fork	3	4
Lone Star	3	2

DADDY'S EVENING
FAIRY TALE
B. MARY GRAHAM BONNER PINKY PIG'S SICKNESS.
"Little Pinky Pig was very sick," said Daddy, "and all because he had eaten too much."
"What do you think the trouble can be?" asked Pinky's Mother when Doctor Frog came to call.
"I shall have to find out," said Doctor Frog. He put the Spectacles he was carrying on his funny, flat nose and he looked at Pinky Pig.
"Your head is hot," he said. "You must have a fever. It's the first thing we're taught when we become Doctors. It's a fine thing, to know.
Hot heads mean Fever! Simple little thing to learn and we never forget it."
"But Doctor Frog," said
Pinky's Mother,
who was very much worried, "I don't want to know what you
have learned in order to be a Doctor. I want to know what you
think is going to happen to Pinky.
Will he live or die? Does he need Medicine or can he go out and Play?"
"That's the way with Mothers," said Doctor Frog. "They are always wringing their Hands or their Paws or their Feet and asking so many questions.
Well, in the first place he is not going to die, and Pinky's Mother looked very much happier. "But for the rest of your questions—I'll have to look at him more closely before I can answer them."
"Then Doctor Frog brought out his Medicine Chest, which was made of smooth Wood and covered with Moss.
Inside were little Stones filled with berries of all sorts and sizes and colors, which Doctor Frog gave for Pills.
There were pieces of Lily pads with yellow Powder from the centers of Flowers. And in little Bottles made of Acorns he had Raindrop Water.
"His feet are so muddy I can hardly see what's the matter," said Doctor Frog.
"Nothing's the matter with his Feet," said Pinky's Mother. "They're always muddy, like that—it's the way I've brought him up, to be a good, muddy-footed Child."
"All this time Pinky was lying down, making a great deal of noise with his grunts and squeals of pain. "I'm so sick," he moaned.
"Well," said Doctor Frog, as he began to make Powders from his Medicine Chest, "better take one of these every hour."
"What are they for?" asked Pinky's Mother.
"Never mind what they're for—they're good for everything—all Powders and Pills are, aren't they?"
"Nonsense," grunted Pinky's Mother.
"Well, then, I suppose I must see what's the matter, when you're so very particular! Open your mouth, young Pig! Let me see your tongue. And your Throat?" As he asked to look at Pinky's Throat he got a stick from his Medicine Chest and held poor Pinky's Tongue down with it as he looked.
"There's nothing the matter with your Throat," said Doctor Frog. "It's your digestion. You have eaten too much—that's what you've done. You've been a PIG!"
"Well, and what else could he have been—the little love?" asked Pinky's Mother angrily. "He's a Pig and a very fine one, and he couldn't be anything else if he tried. How could he?
Answer me that?" And Pinky's Mother showed how angry she was by the way her pink eyes looked.
"It's true, Madame Pig," said Doctor Frog in a very superior way, "that your son could not be anything else but a Pig. But he needn't have been quite so much of a Pig. And if you don't know what I mean, you're very stupid—that's all."
"You're the stupid one," said
Pinky's Mother.
"Whatever you mean by saying he could be a pig but not much of a one—or whatever that nonsense was you said! He will be a regular Pig.
I say, and I'll change Doctors—this very minute!"
"Good-day," said Doctor Frog, as he picked up his Powder and put it in his Medicine Chest. "I'll give this Powder to my next Patient. All little Animals are Pigs at times. Good-by again, Madame Pig. I am sorry that I am too wise for you!"
"Pinky's Mother grunted to herself in rage. "Doctor Frog must be getting foolish in his old age," she thought.

SUBMARINES NOT ALLOWED IN NORWEGIAN WATERS Order Of The Government Is Signed By King Haakon.
Christiania, Norway, Oct. 24
—King Haakon has approved an ordinance forbidding submarines of belligerents powers from traversing Norwegian waters except in case of emergency, when they must remain upon the surface and fly the national flag. Any submarine violating the ordinance will according to its provisions, be attacked by armed forces.
Mercantile submarines are only to be allowed in Norwegian waters in a surface position in full daylight and flying the national colors. The ordinance takes effect on October 20.

Fall From Chair Kills Baby.
Sterling, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Keith of Crofton, was so badly injured by a fall from a chair Friday night that he died early Saturday morning. Mr. Keith has placed the little fellow in his high chair in the dining room and was a out her variations for supper, when the head him fall. It is thought he had turned himself around in the chair and was standing up when he fell over.
He struck the floor on his head causing concussion of the brain, from which he died early Saturday morning. The little fellow was 15 months old and was an unusually active child, and his death is a severe blow to the parents and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Keith formerly lived in this city, and they have many friends here who deeply sympathize with them in their great orrow. The funeral and burial took place at Croft on Sunday —

A Merciless Judge

One Who Shows No Favor

A merciless judge is Father Time.
Before him the weak and the wanting to go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Marion resident has withstood the stern test of all tests.

J. E. Glass, farmer, Marion, says:
"I was subject to backache of the worst kind for years, in fact, the pain caused many sleepless nights. I took a number of medicines, including the doctor's without the slightest benefit.
I finally got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Hayes & Taylor's Drug Store and they gave me instant relief. In less than a week, the pains in my back had vanished."

HUGE ARMADA SAILS

British Warships Pick Up And Convey Loaded Liners.

New York, Oct. 21.—Headed by the 24,000-ton White Star liner Adriatic, with a $7,000,000 cargo and 336 passengers, a flotilla of nine British merchantmen with munitions of war slipped out to sea last night. The vessels had remained at anchor all afternoon within the three-mile limit off Sandy Hook.

As soon as darkness shut out the shore line the propellers of the Adriatic commenced to turn, and she crept away on her voyage to Liverpool, the richest prize on the seven seas today.

A squadron of British cruisers summoned by wireless from the West Indies, Bermuda, the Bahamas and Halifax by Admiral Montague Browning met her.
They will act as an escort for the big liner and the eight freighters that follow in her wake through the danger zone in which Admiral Browning thinks the U-53 and her companions may still be waiting.

When the Adriatic passed the Narrows the Cunard steamer Panonia, which has been waiting since Sunday with her cargo of explosives in Gravesend Bay, last night...

Later in the afternoon the British steamers East Gate, Tipton, Teftwood and Strathely all under chart to the French Line and loaded to capacity with war munitions, left in anchorage and joined the Adriatic and Panonia off the Hook. The last two of the flotilla, the freighter Aragorreck and the Atlantic transport steamer Minnehaha, with 1,400 tons of munitions on board, passed through the Narrows at 5 o'clock yesterday.

$40,000,000 Paid For Horses Since War Began

East St. Louis, Oct. 24.—Approximately 225,000 war horses have been sold since the war began. The total sum paid for the horses is about $40,000,000.
About 7,000 mules have been sold for a total of $995,000. The Italian Government has recently made a contract for 3,000 horses to be filled in thirty days. British French and Belgian buyers and agents for the United States army are taking a total of 2,000 horses a week. Isn't it better to sell our horses to those fighting nations than to keep them here to fight with ourselves?

ES OF FIELD KITCHEN

Ranked as Noncombatants, Men Who Feed the Soldiers Are Constantly Facing Death.

Often, when the death struggle is at its height and a condition approximately chaos exists in the immediate rear of the battling armies, the fighting man's waste of energy and strength is repaired through the medium of that unique vehicle, the field kitchen. No one who has not campaigned with troops enjoying the comforts of the field kitchen can appreciate how much it makes for gustatory satisfaction, and how it promotes that elusive and highly important fighting factor—morale.

One winter's night in Poland, after spending the day watching wave upon wave of gray-coated soldiers roll up and break against the Russian trenches and entanglements, I was making my way back to a field hospital where I was a guest when my eyes caught the twinkle of a long row of lights that wavered above the road. The lights were moving slowly but steadily toward the battle front. Soon the grate and rattle of the iron boilers sounded clear in the frosty air, helping me to recognize a train of field kitchens bumping along the frozen road. The brazier chimneys flared and I whiffed a fragrance of potteries and boiling meat.

I knew from personal observation that the enemy were deluging a particular turn of that road with six-inch and three-inch shells. At that very moment one could see them exploding in groups of four. On went the field kitchens, each with a driver muffled up to the eyes against the Russian cold, lumbering into the danger zone.
Into the valley of death that train of field kitchens was most certainly riding. Cannons to left of them and cannons to right of them most assuredly thundered. All the rest of Tennyson's lyric eulogium might apply to the patient drivers.

I watched in admiration as the kitchens rolled onward, speculating upon the thoughts of men who thus went into battle. Such men were classed as noncombatants. Their function was to feed the fighters—essentially a non-inspiring role. There was none of the glory of battle; yet the character of their courage stood the severest tests.
What the presence of these kitchens meant to the battle-beaten battalions cannot be measured in words. I am tempted to say that the resistance of a present-day fighting army is in direct proportion to the efficiency of its field-kitchen train.—Greenville Fortescue in Saturday Evening Post.

Motorman a Modern Atlas.

Got any old thing you want lifted?
A piano, gas range, front stoop, wood-shed, bureau or mortgage, or a relative who's overstaying his leave, or anything like that? If you have, just write to Frank Green, motorman at the car barns, and he'll not only lift them, but toss them any place you say. The other day he lifted a horse weighing 1,350 pounds, about 20 feet in the air.
Frank, who weighs only 135 pounds, did the lifting with the assistance of a derrick. He placed a canvas belt around the astonished horse, connected with a belt that circled his own waist, and then stepping into a frame rigged up for the occasion and connected with the derrick, gave the signal for the derrick men to haul away.
The horse's dead weight being suspended from the motorman's waist. "Did you do it on a bet?" Green was asked.
"Nix. I did it just for fun. I like to lift heavy things. Little things like wagons and motor cars blocking the tracks don't bother me. I just toss 'em to one side."—New York Letter to the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Education in South China.

Literacy among the people of South China is considerably greater than among those of the North. Claim is advanced in Canton that nearly all the children of Cantonese parentage, except those of the large boat population, receive sufficient schooling to enable them to learn to read, whereas in the North of China it is unusual to find a family the children of which are all placed in school. The native newspaper is read by a considerably larger number than the list of subscribers to that paper would make it appear. In and about Shanghai papers are sold two and three times over. Collectors go about gathering up the newspapers of the previous day's issue, redistributing them among the lower class of population. It is said that they are then further distributed by being sent out to the villages and country sections, where they are sold for a fraction of a cent apiece.

Steps to the Mile.

How many steps do you take to the mile? Should you be a British infantryman your pace will be the longest of any infantryman in the world.
The Russians' pace is the shortest, being 27½ inches, the French, Italian and Austrian paces are 29 inches, the Germans do 31 inches, whilst the English stride an extra half inch.

But your own pace, what of it? It depends upon your height. Take your eyebrow height, halve it, and that represents your pace. You will find it to be somewhere between 30 inches and 32 inches, so that you will need between 2,000 and 2,100 paces to the mile.

Its Style.

"This is certainly a fine clubhouse.
But its ventilation is bad. By the way, what is this room to be used for?"
"I don't know, but judging by the temperature, it

STYLES IN CAPES

PEASANT DESIGN MAY BE SAID TO HAVE PREFERENCE.

In All Sorts of Materials It Has Proved Popular, and Undoubtedly Has Come to Stay—Cape for Motoring.

The Victorian capes which were ushered in last February with 1840 and 1870 hats to match, did not succeed, but the Victorian shoulder —that wide piece of fur which is like a postilion collar slipped to the top of the arms, has been entirely successful.

But the peasant cape has outdone all others. It may be short or long, of tulle and ermine, or of black satin faced with blue, with a hood that stretches across the shoulders built of the two colors.

Wherever possible, the dressmakers use a contrasting color as a lining, even if the material is as unsubstantial as tulle.

A gathered cape of gray chiffon is lined with horizon blue—for the horizon is blue in France, although it is, as a rule, gray in America.

Iridescent taffeta, lined with tulle or chiffon, is used for afternoon capes in resorts, at the casinos, country clubs and polo fields.

For motoring, there is the Italian cape of dark blue cloth lined with the red of our flag in taffeta or satin.
There are also actual Red Riding Hood capes worn by the younger set, the pointed hoods hanging between the shoulder blades.

Tripping around through the resorts, one is convinced that the cape has forged its way to a position above the coat. True, the motorcoat is still desirable and no one neglects it, but the cape is the fashionable garment. The original device that are worked out in it gives it a wide appeal to the res-tleless woman who insists upon new things, even though she has no old ones.

In the evening, to wear with white satin gowns, there are wraps of red chiffon lined with blue chiffon, with hood capes almost covered with bands of white marabou. At dinner parties in the open, the women keep these

Open-Air Dinner Cape.

capas on during the evening, and they make a very attractive setting for a low gown and a bare head.

By the way, the continued talk of the revival of first empire styles is actually changing the coiffure before there is a strong evidence of the Josephine frock itself. The hair is worn high in the middle of the head, and often there is no formed knot, simply a bunch of small, loose curls held at the base by two ornamental combs, preferably jet.

paper Syndicate.)

FADS AND FASHIONS

A pretty blouse is of handkerchief linen in white dotted with delicate color.

Blouses of contrasting color are now favored for dressy tailored suits of silk.

White georgette crepe, heavily embrodered in color, is delightful for blouses.

The transparent hat with under-brim trimming is the latest fancy of millinery.

A cabinet to keep card recipes in is a great convenience for a young housekeeper.

Witchhazel and rose water, half and half, is good for wind-tortured complexions.

If going on a picnic or long automobile trip, fold a bungalow apron over the lunch basket. It will then be handy to put on when you spread the lunch.

A teaspoonful of vinegar put into homemade candy keeps it from being sickly sweet.

Long Capes.

Trimming for the long capes of taffeta is delightfully varied. One rose pink cape seen recently had a collar and cape edged with a narrow roll of ostrich, of rose color, with occasional fronts of white. An emerald green silk cape had a second waist depth cape. This was trimmed along the lower edge with three spaced rushes of the green silk, the edges finished with a picot. The collar was a large ruche. The cape hem was simply a facing fold of the silk, with a piping on the upper edge.

Not having seen any items from our burg for several weeks, we will endeavor to scrap up a few. Mr. Whitecotton moved last week from the Phin Wright property to the Mantz property.

Miss Katherine Whitecotton and her guest, Miss Lula Brooks, of Sturgis, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Whitecotton.

Mrs. Will Plue returned Saturday from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Hughes, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Anthony Threlkeld, of Hampton, visited his niece, Mrs. John Threlkeld, Saturday evening, October 31st. Everybody invited.

The following verses were written by the most of the Builders' Class on the picnic supper given by the Class:

THE BUILDERS' SUPPER.
One Tuesday evening, the 12th of September,
A day, I think I shall always remember:
The rippling waters, and sun's glowing light Made the Ohio River a beautiful sight.
To Hurricane Island, the "Builders' Club" went,
And Oh, what a joyful evening we spent;
The well filled table was a most welcome sight,
As we all marched up to eat as a bite.
We had sandwiches, nicksles, pies and cake, Biscuits, crackers, fried chicken and steak;
Such yelling, and laughing, a grand hubbub
Was made o'er the feast of the "Builders' Club".
Every bite was good, from the first to the last,
We finished on melons, our Glorious feast;
That Old Island had never seen such hearty eaters
And never had we seen, such long billed Mosquitoes.
When the meal was finished, we prepared to depart,
So we packed our belongings, and all made a start,
And now we are back, on the mainland shore,
But we want to go back, e'er the season is o'er.
And now, in conclusion, I'm pleased to suggest,
That we all work together, and do our best
To make the "Builders' Club" a lamp so bright, That people in Darkness, may see our Light.

MARION WINS THE GAME

"Coach Byars And Twelve Big Men Marched Up From Sturgis And Back Again."

Marion opened the football season here Friday by defeating the heavy Sturgis team by the score 6 to 0. The game was in doubt until the middle of the last quarter when a short forward pass, Conyer to Oliver, from Sturgis, twenty yard line decided the contest. Incidentally we might state that this is the first football game that a Marion team has won since Adam romped across the football field in the garden of Paradise.

The game was fiercely contested, the ball being in midfield most of the time. At only one time did Sturgis threaten to score and then Hamilton punted out of danger. Fumbles were frequent on both sides on account of the severely cold wind that swept across the field.

Much credit is due the Marion line for their excellent work throughout the game. Although they were out weighed about twenty pounds to the man they presented a stonewall defense and battered down their opponents. There were several individual stars but Marion's excellent teamwork won the game.

With one victory already swung to their belts the team will journey over to Sturgis next Friday and play the big fellows on their own home ground. Coach Moore is confident of another victory and predicts a bigger score.

SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on The Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches with Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15 mile hike foot sore and weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching. Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I awoke the next morning feeling fine; in fact I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as spry as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

Easily applied without rubbing. At all druggists, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

Notice to Parents, Teachers And Children

Many of our readers have never seen a paper being printed. Probably, very few of the children know how the "wheels go round" to make the Crittenden Record Press which is read by 10,000 people each week, and in order that those who wish to may see the machinery in operation, on next Saturday afternoon between the hours of two and five o'clock the big cylinder press, job press, folder, perforator, paper cutter and other machinery will be in operation. Visitors are requested to go down the front stairs between Dr. Stone's office and McConnell & Wiggins' barber shop and to pass out the rear stairs to prevent crowding. Children should be accompanied by their parents or some person responsible for them and to take care of them.
